MORE ODD JOBS FOR UNEMPLOYED SOUGHT BY ARLINGTON LEGION

The American Legion campaign for odd jobs has met with fair success to date. Numerous jobs have been picked up enabling Clifford Cook, secretary of the unemployment committee, to keep some of the registered unemployed busy temporarily. Paint jobs seem to be in demand. Local residents have offered house-painting open to bids. Washing windows and beating rugs, however, have the lead in the list of jobs submitted to date. Trimming of lawns and pruning trees are other occupations which have proved gainful to the unemployed.

Residents of precincts six, eight, nine, ten and twelve have cooperated very generously in the movement. Campaigners are still contacting in these precincts. It is hoped that those who have not yet been visited will do their bit to aid the drive for jobs when they are reached.

The representatives calling have been assigned to the detail by Arlington Post No. 39 American Legion in conjunction with the Emergency Unemployment Committee. All jobs can be filled by calling Mr. Cook at unemployment headquarters, Old Town Hall, or by mailing the odd-job card which will be left by the representative.

Arlington Post No. 39 in sponsoring this campaign relies upon the public to help finance the incidental costs. The surplus of the fund will be turned over by the post directly to the Arlington Unemployment Fund. The post is asking the cooperation of each home to the extent of one dollar through the authorized representatives, who will leave in the homes a copy of that noted memoir of the world war, the "Lost Battalion," as a token of appreciation for such cooperation. The "Lost Battalion," a unique episode of the late war, is vividly portrayed in real doughboy style by Lee McCollum, himself a survivor of the lost battalion, and recently featured in broadcasts over station WBZ.

The Legion in conjunction with the Unemployment Committee expresses thanks to those who have responded to date. It is hoped that wherever it is possible an odd job of some kind will be created in the home. This is the season. Man power is available. Have it done now.

QUICK WORK BY POLICE HELPS HONEST AUTOIST TO RETURN SCOUT PACK

A khaki Boy Scout camping pack, with contents belonging to Harold Anderson of 84 Newport street, Arlington, was "taken for a ride" to Nashua, New Hampshire late Thursday night but was safely returned to the owner yesterday.

An efficient Arlington police force was working toward the recovery of the canvas bag ten minutes before it was reported lost. Here's how it happened.

At 8:27 o'clock Thursday evening, Edward J. Farrell, of Massachusetts avenue reported to the police that he saw a canvas bag fall out of an auto near Massachusetts avenue and Water street. He told police that he had seen a man riding in a New Hampshire car stop, and pick the bag up. He gave police the registration number and said the car headed toward Arlington Heights. Sergeant Daniel P. Barry immediately notified the Chelmsford police to stop the auto if seen in that vicinity.

Ten minutes later Anderson reported the loss of his Boy Scout pack which had dropped out of a car in which he was riding. The police had already been working on the case and had made considerable headway at that.

At 9:10 p. m. the Chelmsford police notified the Arlington headquarters that the Nashua car had been intercepted and the operator had the canvas bag with him. He told the police, however, that he would return it to the local station on Friday and assured Sergeant Barry in a telephone conversation that he intended to show up with the canvas pack which he found on Massachusetts avenue. The officer took his word for it and, yesterday morning, Thomas Garratt of Maple street, Nashua, New Hampshire brought the Boy Scout pack to the local police station. The Arlington owner of the pack claimed it last night and sent thanks to Garratt for his Boy Scout deed. Everybody went away satisfied.

PRIME BEDDING STORES TO OPEN HEADQUARTERS IN ARLINGTON CENTRE

The Prime Bedding Stores, Incorporated, operating an extensive chain of stores will open new headquarters at 450 Massachusetts avenue, Arlington within a few days. This company is one of the largest of its kind in the country and the establishing of its headquarters next door to the Rose Bud tea room in Arlington is distinctly an asset to the community.

Asked why Arlington was selected as the most suitable community in which to establish headquarters the president of the Prime Bedding Stores, Incorporated said: "Arlington is ideally located; it is growing rapidly; is just the right distance from Boston for a select residential town and it has great possibilities."

In answer to the question whether he believed a store selling only bedding could succeed, he pointed out that every man, woman and child in this as well as any other town, must have a bed in which to sleep and, in consequence, every home is a potential prospect for some kind of bedding. "By specializing in one line," he added, "we are able to give far greater value and better service. Besides, the rapid turnover of our stock assures our patrons of clean, fresh merchandise of the newest style."

He expressed a preference for doing business on a cash basis but said also, "We feel that we can extend a greater service to our customers by arranging divided payments to suit their convenience."

One of the largest displays of beds ever shown in one shop room has already been set up at the new headquarters and will be ready for public inspection within a short time. The Prime Bedding Stores, Incorporated will feature only the very latest designs and finest products. The display will include a full line of distinctively high quality beds, springs, mattresses, day-beds, studio couches, cribs, youth-beds, single couches and several antique models of the very finest workmanship. The company will stand ready to answer and fill out orders of any kind.

A large staff of men who are experienced in home furnishing and interior decorating will be on hand to assist the public with valuable suggestions. Visitors will be welcome on the gala opening day as well as everyday thereafter as the Prime Bedding Stores, are eager to become acquainted with Arlington owners and homemaker. Everything possible will be done by this new company to deserve the patronage of Arlington people.

On the eve of their opening, The Arlington Daily News wishes the Prime Bedding Stores, Incorporated the success which their local enterprise deserves.

11 Ninety-Degree Days Registered Here Last Year

Residents of the Arlington vicinity may anticipate 11 days during the coming summer when the temperature will exceed 90 degrees, if last year's weather record is duplicated, according to the Holland Institute of Thermology, which has made a study of official weather figures for this area.

Residents of the locality may also look forward during the year to 112 days of temperatures of 75 degrees and over, the Institute states. Of the 90-degree days, 5 will come in July.

The Institute's study, which covered weather conditions in all parts of the United States, also summarized new developments in the air-conditioning industry to provide relief for homes and families from the intense heat of summer. From this data, the Institute forecasts the installation, this year in a large number of homes of year-round air-conditioning systems, one of the principal functions of which is to cool the home air in summer. Such air-conditioning devices, attached to a warm-air heating plant or installed in connection with any other type of heating system, achieve cooling simply by washing out the summer heat of the stifling indoor atmosphere. The air in every room in the house is constantly circulated through a series of fine swirling water sprays which cool it from 5 to 20 degrees, depending on the temperature of the water and the amount used. An accompanying gentle but steady air movement also effects a sensibility of comfort comparable to a drop of several degrees in temperature.

An auxiliary refrigerating unit is employed to reduce the temperature of the available water supply if it is higher than 60 degrees.

GIVE HIM A JOB!
(By a booster of the Arlington American Legion Post drive to help local jobless.)

- Wash these windows
Trim that lawn
From such odd jobs
Courage is born.
- Give a day's work
To an unemployed man
Watch his spirits perk
His face now a smiling span.
- Just take a look
At your odds and ends
Then call Mr. Cook
For a man who mends.
- Depression then ends
For the day at least
To the man who mends
That job is a feast.
- So look again
And place your label
On one of those jobs
At the banquet tables.

Arlington Police Officer Stops New Jersey Youth On Massachusetts Avenue Yesterday Morning — Questioning Reveals Series of Breaks — Had Money Taken From Market — Arranged In Court Yesterday—Held In $5,000 Bail

A series of breaks and attempted breaks in several Arlington stores early yesterday morning proved disastrous to Claude W. Glenn, 17, of Patterson, N. J., who was arrested by an alert police officer at 4:40 o'clock a. m.

The New Jersey man, who later admitted several attempts to break into local stores, some of which were successful while others not so fruitful, was stopped by officer Thomas R. White at the corner of Massachusetts avenue and Pleasant street. The officer was suspicious and soon discovered that the man had $39.84 in his pocket. Upon questioning, the man revealed that he had won the money in a dice game "up the street". The officer was still unsatisfied with Glenn's alibi and after further questioning, the "visitor" from New Jersey admitted breaking into three stores early this morning. Officer White arrested him and brought him to the station.

Sergeant Charles E. Carroll sent him out in the police scout car and while travelling along the avenue he pointed out to police officers MacLean and White, who were in the car with him, Caperio's Market at 925A Massachusetts avenue as one of the stores which he had broken into. Caperio yesterday morning reported to the local police that $36.84 had been taken from his store.

Glenn then admitted breaking into two other stores in Lexington and four in Maynard. The Maynard and Lexington police headquarters were immediately notified by the Arlington police, who successfully checked the activities of the man just in the midst of an attempt to "rake" in a rather good amount of money, are conducting a thorough investigation of Glenn's activities in Arlington. Glenn told police that he was on parole from the Rotherway, New Jersey reformatory. He gave his address as 38 Spring street, Patterson, N. J. His mother and father live there.

Lieutenant Albert E. Ryan also investigated a report by J. Cohen of 951 Massachusetts avenue, in which he told police that an attempt to enter his store by a rear window had been made Thursday night or Friday morning.

Arranged in the Criminal Court at East Cambridge yesterday, Glenn was held in $5,000 bail for the Grand Jury.

EYES OF FEDERATED CLUB WOMEN TURN TO SWAMPSCOTT

Singing delegates will be honored by the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs in session for their 40th annual meeting, May 18 to 21 at the New Ocean House, Swampscott. Mrs. George F. Schroeder, chairman of music, has sounded a clarion call to all singing club members to join the Massachusetts state chorus at Swampscott. The chorus will be featured during the lighter moments in the convention program. Volunteers are requested to notify Mrs. Schroeder at 2 Webster park, Needham.

Afghans
Colorful among the exhibits of the convention will be the display of afghans fashioned by loving club fingers for war veterans in hospital. Friendly rivalry has been stirred among the clubs in the knitting of afghans for the boys, and Mrs. Walter H. Woods, of Brookline, state chairman, predicts a notable display. Handiwork of disabled war veterans will also be shown.

Handiwork
Exhibits, indeed, promise to play a conspicuous part in events of the three days. According to Mrs. Arthur J. Crockett of West Roxbury, chairman of exhibits, they will offer a liberal education in themselves apart from the carefully planned program. A new feature will be the showing of work by the handicapped, directed by Mrs. Hazel Hammond Albertson of West Newbury, chairman. Public health will be featured by the State, under Mrs. Carl Weber-Illeg, Jr., of Onset. Juniors in racial costumes will assist Mrs. William I. MacAulay of Revere, chairman, at the booth devoted to interracial unity.

More Exhibits
An innovation in exhibits will be the grouping of Mothercraft, American Home and Child Welfare activities, sponsored by their respective chairmen. Mrs. May Dickinson Kimball of Boston, Mrs. Norman H. Hastings of West Roxbury and Mrs. William S. Piper of Holden. Other exhibits will include prison work displayed by Mrs. Stephen E. Wright of Auburndale, chairman of social welfare, and safety methods directed by Mrs. Robert J. Culbert of Boston, chairman.

Excursions
Among the several attractive features to be offered at Swampscott will be two excursions arranged for Thursday, May 19, by the divisions of art and conservation. Mrs. Roy C. Baker of Clinton, chairman of art, plans a visit to Salem with calls at Essex Institute, House of Seven Gables and the Ropes Memorial. The party will leave at 8.30 a. m. under the direction of Mrs. John G. Shaw of Beverly. A garden tour at 9 a. m. announced by Mrs. Robert B. Parmenter of Arlington, chairman of conservation, will include the gardens of Swampscott and Nahant, under the leadership of Mrs. Gertrude Phillips, garden consultant. Registration is required for both outings.

From A Member Of The Phillips Literary Ass'n

Yes—we knew Andrew F. Curtin—for over 45 years. We knew him, when he was one of the leaders in the activities of the Old Phillips Literary Association. He told us many times that he received his training in public speaking, through the debates held among the members of the association. He had a fund of dry humor with true Celtic wit and appreciated a joke, even though it be turned on himself. The banquets held by the Phillips were one of the big social events of the year and attended by prominent officials of State and city.

Year after year, Andrew officiated as toastmaster, at the annual event and his remarks always aroused laughter, without offense.

As to his kindness of heart, we who knew him best, know of the help he gave to those in distress. He was always among the first to offer aid. He lived up to the tenets of all the fraternal organizations of which he was a member.

He was an example of Lincoln's creed, "With Malice toward none and Charity toward all."

He was given an honor rarely accorded a civilian, being made an associate member of S. C. Lawrence Post, 66, G. A. R., over 20 years ago, because of many kindnesses rendered to the old veterans.

Membership in the Mechanic Charitable Mechanics Association was another affiliation of which he was justly proud. He also was a member of the Medford club for many years, and still retained his interest in that organization through one of his sons, that the family might continue to be represented.

He may have passed from this earthly sphere, in body, but his spirit will hover around the city he served and loved so well.

Eulogies are fleeting, but he will live in the hearts of his friends for years without number.

—Frank Healey of 31 Swan street reported to police yesterday that a dog owned by a resident of Eastern avenue had bitten one of his children. Police investigated and reported that the dog was not licensed.

So. Medford Horseshoe Club Progressing

The South Medford Horseshoe club had its first meeting of the season at the home of President Leroy Copeland, 19 Leyden street, Thursday night. The purpose of the meeting was to admit new members and also discuss the financial possibilities of suitably equipping the new clubhouse with furniture, adding three more pitching courses to the four which are already constructed and supplying each member with a cream colored sweat shirt with a large blue M on the front and a picture of a horseshoe on the back. The members were heartily in accord with the suggestion of extra courses, also were jubilant over the prospect of the uniform. The question of furnishing the clubhouse was partly solved when Martin Conserva, one of the members, who represents a well known Boston piano establishment, said that his firm intends to donate one of the best pianos absolutely free to the club.

President Leroy Copeland set a reasonable figure for dues per month which was suitable for all and the meeting adjourned.

The new South Medford pitching courses are located at Sanger street extension and Leyden street. Electric lights have already been installed on the four courses that have just been completed. A fifteen foot electric sign with the club's name, will be erected in the form of an arch, in the main entrance, which is on Sanger street. A similar sign will be placed at the east boundary of the courses, on top of the hill facing Mystic avenue, which will clearly be seen by passing automobiles at a considerable distance.

The names of members who recently joined the club are: Clarence Copeland, Charles Parker, Joseph Moran, Harold Wilkinson, William Wilkinson, Henry Malm, Herbert L. Clark, Arthur Carlson, Frank Sheridan, Edgar Thompson, Henry Babinque, Frank Shortt and Fred Babbitt. The club now has a membership of thirty.

A MOTHER SPEAKS FROM THE OTHER SHORE

By Agnes Carr
My son, I have not gone so far away
But that I may look back at you and smile;
I hold you deep within my thought today,
Though God has parted us, a little while.

I think of all the plans I made for you,
And of your life, I wanted it to be
So splendid, every boyish dream come true,
I loved to prophesy!

And though I've left you, dear, I'm planning still
And praying that your pathway through the years
May follow up the highway, hill, by hill,
Until Success appears!

Remember that I set your standards high,
You must not lower them along the way,
For nothing but the best must my son try
Through every passing day!

And when you come to manhood's life estate,
I shall be watching with such loving pride;
I shall be seeking you among the great,
Or walking at your side!

My son, please think of me as very near,
Although my home is in the land above;
My heart has never really left you, dear,
There is no death while we are one in love!

Frigidaire Refrigerator Is Reduced in Price

"An electric refrigerator for $130! That's Frigidaire's latest presentation," states Albert W. Nelson, who is now featuring a display of the new popular Frigidaire models at the Mystic Battery Station, 453 High street, West Medford.

Surplus power, insuring safe, dependable food preservation, always; extra freezing capacity; cold control with six freezing speeds; compact food compartment which always provides maximum storage space; "non-stoop" shelves; porcelain interior, resisting where stains are most likely to occur; finished hardware of distinctive design; white Moraine finish, for lasting beauty—these are some of the important features that, in Mr. Nelson's opinion, make Frigidaire, a safe, attractive investment.

Thoroughly equipped by training and experience to solve all refrigeration problems, Mr. Nelson supervises the installation and servicing of each Frigidaire purchased from him. He is always glad to advise and offer practical suggestions to anyone who is considering the purchase of an electric refrigerator.

In addition to the Frigidaire electric refrigerators, the Mystic Battery Station is also the distributor for numerous nationally known radios, and models of the various sets are on display at the salesroom at all times.

The Battery Station has always been noted for the excellence of its repair work on any make of radio and all kinds of storage batteries. Its repair department, complete in every detail, is comprised of employees who speedily remedy any radio or battery difficulties, and charges for labor or parts are always reasonable.

State Police Chiefs' Association Approves New Safety Drive

Unanimous approval by the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Association of a second six months' state-wide campaign against the eight principal causes of automobile accidents, which will again bring more than 7,000 police officers all over the state into a concentrated drive against those bad driving practices which have been found to cause nearly 90 per cent of all serious accidents, will launch the summer drive against highway fatalities in high gear.

The police campaign, which is to be similar to that which was credited with producing a reduction of 21 fatalities in the six months it operated last year, will be started on June 1 and will continue to November 30, according to an announcement from the Governor's committee on street and highway safety, the organization which will co-ordinate the police efforts in the campaign and which will keep up-to-the-minute records of the progress of the drive.

As was the case last year, the co-operating organizations will include the Massachusetts state police, local police departments in every city and town, the Metropolitan district police and inspectors from the registry of motor vehicles. The only change in the plan this year over last will be in the color of the tickets which are to be issued to offending motorists. This year they will be red in color instead of the blue which was used last year. Their meaning and identification will be the same, however.

Every police officer in the state will be given a supply of these tickets which will serve a triple purpose. They will warn the motorist that he has violated a law; they will show him just what the law is; and they will give police and safety officials of the state an accurate check on the most prevalent types of violations and where these violations are occurring. A fourth feature will be the ability of the registry of motor vehicles to check up on repeating offenders and take summary action to remove them from the road if their driving habits seem to warrant such procedure.

Every ticket will carry a numbered list of the eight most serious law violations which lead to serious accidents, with a space in which to check the particular violation for which the ticket is issued. On the reverse side will be brief extracts of the highway laws governing each of the violations listed. This part of the ticket will be given to the offending motorist. A stub on the ticket, which will be detached by the officer issuing the ticket and forwarded to the Governor's committee at the State House for file and analysis, will have space for the name, residence, registration and license number of the operator, the violation committed, and a notation as to the disposition of all cases will be entirely in the hands of the various police departments and may take any one of the following three courses: a warning, a court summons, or a recommendation for suspension or revocation of license, depending on the seriousness of the violation.

The list of violations in the order in which they will appear on the ticket is as follows:

1. Operating at a speed too fast for conditions.
2. Residential district.
3. Congested or business ground.
4. Adjacent to school or playground.
5. Passing another car going in same direction when view was obstructed.
6. Failing to keep to the right side of the road.
7. Failing to slow down at intersections.
8. Failing to slow down on approach to pedestrians.
9. Failing to observe eight foot law with respect to standing street cars.
10. Violation of traffic control devices.

a. Traffic Signals
b. Stop signs at Through Streets
c. Dangerous and improper parking.

a. State Highways
b. Double parking
c. Wrong side of street
d. Too close to corner

Decision to conduct another campaign against the principle causes of accident was reached this week because of the apparent success of last year's drive in reducing highway fatalities for the entire year after the first six months had shown a substantial increase in highway deaths. In the first six months of the fiscal year period last year up to June 1 there was an increase of 19 fatalities over the corresponding period in the previous year. In the last six months of the year from June 1 to November 30, during which time the campaign was in operation, there was a reduction of 21 deaths from the same period in the previous year, leaving a net reduction of two fatalities for the entire 12 months—the first reduction since 1927.

The conditions this year are somewhat similar. In the first four months of the year up to April 1 there has been a five per cent increase in fatalities over the same period last year, and the new police campaign, organized to an even higher degree than that of last year, has been decided on as one of the best methods of combating the increase.

In addition to combating actual highway deaths in cities and towns throughout the state, the drive should help many Massachusetts communities to boost their point score for active accident prevention work in the national traffic safety contest for the title of America's safest city.

MRS. J. A. NORTON NEW REGENT SARAH BRADLEE FULTON CHAPTER, D. A. R.

The Sarah Bradlee Fulton Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution held the May meeting Monday evening in the Slave Quarters of the Royal House.

After the reports of the year's work had been given by the committee, the regent, Mrs. John W. Hinckley gave a fine report of the forty-first Continental Congress held in April at Washington, 4200 members assembled in Constitution Hall, delegates were present from Cuba, China, Hawaii, England and from every state in the Union and Alaska. Music was furnished by the United States army and navy bands. James Melton, whose fine tenor voice is so well known over the radio, sang.

Several Congressmen addressed the assembly, and on Patriots' Day, Mrs. Hoover, who is a Daughter of the American Revolution, spoke. The delegates were received at the White House and were wife of Senator Josiah, secretary to President Hoover, gave a tea at her house to the Massachusetts delegation. These are only a part of the delightful features of the week.

One of the principal addresses was made by the Vice-President of the United States, Hon. Charles E. Curtis, whose subject was "Washington," Ambassadors from France, Germany, Poland and the Netherlands Minister were present, their part in the program was to commemorate America's gratitude to her friends of 1776.

Massachusetts has the honor of having Mrs. Russell William Magna of Holyoke, elected without an opponent to the office of President General, the head of more than 170,000 Daughters of the American Revolution. Massachusetts also received a gold medal for best work in conservation and thrift.

At the Colonial Reception held in Constitution Hall, those in the receiving line wore colonial costume. Mrs. George E. Tisdale of Medford, a delegate from Sarah Bradlee Fulton chapter, attracted much attention. She was attired in the wedding dress that her ancestor, Mrs. Sarah Bradlee Fulton wore in 1762. No costume of earlier date was noted. The dress was a heavy green silk brocade over a pink silk petticoat.

This evening closed the two years term of Mrs. Hinckley as regent in which she has ably served as presiding officer and leader of the Sarah Bradlee Fulton Chapter.

Mrs. J. A. Norton was elected Regent, other officers elected were Vice Regent, Mrs. Lillian R. Prescott Hargraves; Recording Secretary, Mrs. H. P. Van De Bogert; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Alice P. Dineen; Treasurer, Mrs. Jessie M. Dineen; Registrar, Miss Ida I. Harshorn; Historian, Miss Maria W. Wait; Chaplain, Mrs. Ella J. P. Fuller.

Saturday afternoon, June 4th, a reception to State Officers and the retiring regent, Mrs. Hinckley, will be held in the parlors of the Royal House. The Washington Bicentennial exercises will follow in the courtyard, where the dedication of trees and panel will take place. The ushers will be the young people of the chapter dressed in colonial costume, the music will be that of Washington's time.

EVERY housewife has a prized cake recipe for special occasions. But cakes baked every Saturday for daily family needs must be economical as well as tempting. Deal Direct With Your Neighborhood Tailor

Medford people have a wonderful opportunity to help increase the business of the local tailor, thereby helping him employ more tradesmen, and relieve in part the unemployment situation.

Fourteen local tailors, who are all anxious to do their share of local business, have started a campaign which will appear in the Medford Mercury each Monday and a later day during the week. Your attention is called to the location and name of each Tailor. If he is located in your community give him a trial. If not near you, phone the nearest local tailor whose name and phone number you will find in his Advertisement in the Mercury.

Each one represented in this space is an experienced tradesman and a skillful craftsman. He will advise you in any tailoring problems. When that suit or garment is returned to you, you'll agree that it pays to have cleaning, pressing and repairing done by a man who knows how, especially when it costs you no more.

Rolls! Dough
That Lasts
All Week

ROMATIC, piping hot rolls that even the thought of making the mouth water, are a pride and glory. They are so invariably popular, that the family may want them three or four times a week, and even every day. How can they be provided that often without a great deal of work, and be perfect each time? This recipe solves both problems.

The dough can be made up at the most convenient time and placed in the refrigerator, portions of it to be used when needed. The result is that the busy housewife does not need to take time to prepare the dough before each meal. The dough produced by this recipe, besides requiring no kneading, will keep splendidly in a refrigerator as long as a week.

The use of evaporated milk insures fine texture, and makes the recipe one of the most convenient and adaptable any woman could want. By diluting the milk with potato water, a good medium is obtained (potato starch) for the yeast to grow in, and at the same time the rolls will be a full-milk bread.

Refrigerator Rolls
1 yeast cake 1/2 cup hot potato water
1/2 cup lukewarm water 1/2 cup evaporated milk
1/2 cup sugar 1 egg, beaten
1 tsp. salt 5 cups family flour
1 hot mashed potato

Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water. Add shortening, sugar, salt, mashed potatoes and potato water to milk. When cool, add yeast. Mix thoroughly and add eggs. Stir in enough flour to make a stiff dough. Turn out on slightly floured board and knead thoroughly. Put into a bowl large enough to allow for slight rising. Rub over with melted shortening, cover tightly and place in refrigerator. About an hour before meal time, pinch off small pieces of dough. Shape. Place on greased baking sheet. Let rise until double in bulk, about 1 hour. Bake in a hot oven (425°F.) about 15 minutes. Brush rolls with melted butter as soon as they are removed from the oven.

If nuts or some special flavoring are desired, the recipe is equally good.

This is garden and yard cleaning up time. Do a good job of it. A dressing of nitrate of soda will speed the asparagus and rhubarb.

Order seeds and plants if you have been slow about it.

Twilight Golf Delightful Pastime

Golfers are taking advantage of daylight saving time to play from nine to eighteen holes of golf after working hours. Those who can reach the golf courses about five o'clock or shortly after are able to play eighteen holes very comfortably before dark and those who cannot tee off until six o'clock or later are able to play at least nine holes.

The plan now in effect at Sagamore Spring Golf Club in Lynnfield Center which permits golfers to play as long as they want to after five o'clock for a small green fee is proving very popular and many golfers are availing themselves of the opportunity to have a little recreation after business hours.

After the game a shower bath may be had in the modern clubhouse and the necessary refreshments to satisfy old man hunger. You can tarry awhile to relate all the wonderful shots you made and the times you almost made a birdie or a hole in one. If necessary, to bring out your best alibi.

Nothing else can be quite as good as golf to keep you mentally and physically fit. It is good both for the young man to expend his energy and keep him interested in the healthiest sport there is and for the tired business man who must relax from the cares of the day and build up his energy for future demands.

Banana Cream
a New Frozen Delight

ANY homemakers are looking for a simple, easily made frozen dessert of smooth, "velvety" texture, and delicate flavor. Here is the recipe that ends the search, banana cream. Stirred ice creams, frozen with cracked ice and salt, have no peer. In the freezing, fine, snow-like particles are formed. One reason for this is the beating into the mixture of tiny air bubbles by the paddle of the hand freezer. The whipping in of air also explains why the freezer is full when you are through, instead of three-quarters, as at the start.

When you try this recipe you will also discover that the very small fat globules in evaporated milk act just as do the air bubbles, in keeping the ice crystals from growing too large. Commercial ice cream manufacturers put the mixture they are to freeze through a homogenizer—a machine that breaks up the fat into little particles. Homogenization is important for good texture. Evaporated milk is homogenized before it is sealed in the tin. For this reason, and because it has such a smooth, creamy consistency, it is especially well adapted for making frozen desserts.

Banana Cream.
6 large bananas 2 cups evaporated milk
Choose ripe bananas. Remove peelings and outside fibrous portion. Press bananas through a coarse sieve. There should be 2 cups pulp. Add milk and stir until well blended. Cool. Freeze with a mixture of one part rock salt to eight parts cracked ice, by volume (not weight). Yield: 1 quart.

Frozen desserts like this one provide a good portion of the food requirements of a balanced meal, as well as its artistic climax. They offer a pleasant way for the entire family to secure a part of the milk it needs daily.

REMEMBER MOTHER'S DAY

Tomorrow, the rich and the poor, the high and the lowly will observe the day dedicated to the sweetest friend in the world—Mother! Let no one forget the true meaning of that word, the very dearest ever put on man's lips. From birth until death, there is nothing a Mother would not do for the welfare of her child. If necessary she will sacrifice all in order to assure the happiness of her boy or daughter. Disagreements may come up; a son may not be walking along the path which was originally mapped out by his mother. Yet, she will never deliberately go against him. The same holds true with her daughter.

Her presence makes the home a cheerful place to live in. Without her, there could be no home. So, on this day and every day of the year let everyone remember the true meaning of the word "mother" and as Governor Joseph B. Ely says in his proclamation, "This day should give us an unusual opportunity to give national emphasis to motherhood, which throughout the ages has been recognized as the greatest single force in the advancement of civilization. The most beautiful word in all the languages of men is 'Mother.' Mother and Home are synonymous of the love and devotion that centre in the family circle. On Sunday, May 8, may we all turn our thoughts to the one who makes home a place of joyous privilege and blessed memory."

MASSACHUSETTS MOTHERS

Mothers' Day, always a pleasant sentiment, a plea for people to remember Mother, perhaps to write a letter, send a card or a bouquet, or maybe, to place flowers on a hallowed grave—but now force and reverence have been added to this sentiment and the Mothers' Day celebration arouses the country to the need of greater efforts for saving mothers. Some 16,000 mothers died in childbirth in the United States last year and Massachusetts alone lost 407 (nearly 6 mothers for every 1,000 babies who are born alive.)

It is true that the only country in the world to set apart a special day to be observed as "Mother's Day" does not lead the world with the fewest deaths due to causes having to do with motherhood.

It is also true that great reductions have been made in other causes of death, such as tuberculosis, diphtheria, typhoid fever, but that the maternal death rate has remained about the same during the past ten years.

Dr. M. Luise Diez, Director of the Division of child Hygiene of the Massachusetts Department of Public Health says, "Adequate maternity care would not only reduce the death rate of mothers, but would also save the lives of many babies who now die during the very first weeks of life. When every expectant mother realizes that it not only is her right but an obligation to secure the best medical care for herself during pregnancy—these most tragic of deaths, mothers dying in childbirth leaving a tiny babe and a broken home—would certainly be less."

"Adequate care," Dr. Diez, says includes—

"1. Early and complete examination of every expectant mother by physician and dentist and correction of any defects found.

2. Prenatal care under direction of physician and nurse so that any abnormal conditions may be noticed and corrected before any damage is done to mother or baby.

3. Arrangements for adequate care either in a hospital or at home for delivery.

4. Postnatal care and instruction.

"Adequate care for the mother-to-be then, means medical supervision before, during and after birth of the baby.

Let Mother's Day in Massachusetts mean more than a flower or a thought of reverence. May it mark definite efforts on the part of each Massachusetts town and city to provide adequate maternity care of every mother in our Commonwealth."

ADVERTISING ADVANTAGES

The business man who does not advertise might be compared with a man who digs a well and does not put a pump in it, or the concern who would construct a pipe line and fail to include the power for forcing the production through the pipes. Assembling equipment for manufacturing or a stock of merchandise is only the first step in doing business. If no one knew about it the attempt would be a complete failure. As a matter of course there is always some sort of advertising even if it amounts to no more than desultory gossip by those who notice what is going on. Salespeople, window displays, and many other incidental forms of advertising are used, incidental because they are part of the ordinary methods of doing business. Real advertising, though, consists in the working out of systematic campaigns that are designed to accomplish specific purposes. This is what is meant when we speak of advertising, and here is where so many are weak. Systematic, intelligent advertising is the means that brings outstanding results in business. As has been so often stated, it will do more than anything else to stabilize business and maintain general prosperity.—Scottsboro (Ala.) Jackson County Sentinel.

Of course there are many things to take up the minds of the members during this nice weather, but just the same if you know that your letters make others happy who read them, you should sacrifice a little time to spread Sunshine. And your letters do spread Sunshine, for Daddy Sunshine knows that besides the many children who read and enjoy the column, there are many fathers and mothers, and parents of fathers and mothers, who look forward to reading the Kiddie Korner every evening. What do you say all you old timers—see who will be the first to write. See who will first feel the responsibility of bringing joy to all readers of the column.

Praises Baby Lenore

Baby Lenore Simmons.

Daddy Sunshine Club:

I am always waiting for Monday to come, so I can listen to your skits with "Mal." I think they are great and my Daddy and Mother think so too. My daddy works kind of late nights as he is a storekeeper, but it happened to be a slow night for him, so he closed early and he was home in time for your broadcast Monday.

It was the first time he heard you over the air and when I told him you were only five years old he could not believe it. He didn't think a little girl five years old could remember things like you do. And we like your singing a whole lot too.

And Baby Lenore please tell me "Let me hum a hymn to her tonight," for us on one of your future broadcasts, and also, "I got a cold in my nose."

And baby Lenore, please tell "Mal" we like him a whole lot too, we think he is great, and Charlie the boy who plays the piano, and we are rooting for Daddy Sunshine. We like to hear the skits he has with Paul, and please tell him we are saving tin foil, and when we get a lot we will bring it to the Medford Mercury ourselves.

Hoping you and the Daddy Sunshine Club a lot of success, I will close.

Always waiting for Monday, Thomas Bouchard, 145 Hampshire street, Cambridge, Mass.

Only Six Years

Dear Daddy Sunshine:

I would like to join your club. I am six years of age and in the first grade of St. Joseph's school. May I have a pin?

Yours truly, Annette Doran, 34 Duffer circle, Medford, Mass.

For a little girl six years of age you write a very nice hand. Daddy Sunshine is more than pleased to have you as a member of his club, as well as any of your little friends who care to join. He will see to it that you receive a pin when he gets more of them.

Got Good Report Card

I got a good report card. Here is a puzzle of automobiles. Dorf, Cuihk, Darkacp, Itcapno, Telvecho.

Well I must close now. Your friend, Irene Bresnahan, 43 Tainter street, Medford, Mass.

Successful Pop
Concert Aids
MHS Athletics

Last evening in the Medford High school gymnasium the M. H. S. Athletic Association held its first Pop concert and dance. The affair was run primarily to raise funds for the athletic funds but owing to the large crowd and fine time had by all it was announced that the affair would be an annual one.

The concert was a very colorful affair with tables lining all sides of the hall. The tables were decorated in pastel shades. The waitresses were colored aprons, the color of the aprons matching the color of the table. There were 250 present, among whom were many alumni.

During the intervals of dancing the audience was entertained by a program consisting of dancing and singing. This program was headed by Mrs. Alice O'Leary, recent winner of the Paul Whitman Pontiac radio audition. Although Mrs. O'Leary is under contract to the NBC, she willingly gave her services for the cause. Following Mrs. O'Leary on the program was Merton Neill who gave a group of selections on the xylophone. He was accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Frank D. Neill at the piano.

Miss Blanche Blangard then entertained with a jazz tap. One of the most popular numbers on the program was an adagio dance by the diminutive Clifford and Dorothy Brown. Although only young children, they performed like professionals and drew many rounds of applause from the appreciative audience. A tap dance by Betty Chaffie was the next feature. Harold Gillis with a group of Irish songs was an unexpected feature, which was much enjoyed.

The affair was under the supervision of Edwin Pidgeon, who was assisted by Gertrude M. Rughledge, Laura P. Patten, Earl M. Woodward and M. Arthur Noble.

Among those present were Dorothy Mullane, Carolyn Johnson, Jean Farrelly, Jessie McAllister, Janet Currie, Doris Barclay, Margaret Chick, Teresa Sullivan, Elizabeth Baldwin, Mary Delaney, Eleanor Bovy, Margaret Tracy, Christine Staffier, Mildred Curcio, Hilda Somers.

A feature will be the selecting of "Miss Belmont" from among those at the party. William J. Cox is chairman of the committee, being assisted by Joseph T. Place, Thomas D. Barrows, George P. PLAN TO STRENGTHEN
HOME FINANCING MADE KNOWN TO TAXPAYERS

With President Hoover's proposed Federal Home Loan Discount Banks as the first step, detailed plans to correct the defects in home financing and to lighten the destructive burden of taxes on real estate are offered to the public with the publication yesterday of volume two of the final reports of the President's Conference on Home Building and Home Ownership. The volume is called "Home Finance and Taxation" and contains the second part of the complete program formulated by the President's Conference at its meeting in Washington last December, to raise the standard of American housing. It is the product of a survey of existing conditions in the financing of homes and in taxation as it relates to home ownership made by leaders in the home financing field, tax assessors, and economists who composed the Committee on Finance and the Committee on Taxation of the conference.

It is evident from the Finance Committee's report that if the high cost of homes is the greatest deterrent to sound home ownership, the high cost of financing is at the heart of this evil. Two-thirds or more of all home purchases, says the Committee, require second mortgages, for which it is not unusual for buyers to pay a bonus of 15 to 20 per cent. In considering remedies the Committee states that "the development of reputable second mortgage companies is essential."

In an introductory analysis of the Committee's report the editors of the reports, Dr. John M. Gries, who is also Executive Secretary of the President's Conference, and Dr. James Ford, find that present legislation based on poor appraisals is the principal cause for their exorbitant rates and frequent failures.

"In order to assure safety for investments," the editors state, "legislation has been enacted that precludes certain financial institutions from investing in mortgages amounting to more than 50 per cent of the appraised value of the property." While such legislation may protect investments, they say it is nevertheless the cause of most second mortgages.

In addition, the editors emphasize the significance of the Committee's recommendation to all home buyers of the advantages of long-term amortized loans. "Should mortgages be made up to 75 per cent of the appraised value of the property where needed and justified, and equitably amortized, the home owner would be much better protected than he now is and much of the need for junior financing would disappear."

In this connection, also, legislation is found to be at fault. State banks in some States are forbidden to hold mortgages made for periods in excess of one year, and National banks are prevented from holding mortgages made for longer than five years.

Other factors that contribute to the high cost of home financing, such as had foreclosure laws and clumsy mortgage acts, are studied in detail by the Committee and remedial measures proposed.

A call to reform state and local tax practices and to reduce public expenditure is sounded in the report of the Committee on Taxation. How great is the need is evidenced by the Finance Committee which lists increases in taxation and special assessments among the principal causes of foreclosure in the present economic crisis. The Committee on Taxation states that millions of homes are today paying taxes that exceed 3 per cent upon their full capital value. In one State investigated by the Committee taxation takes 31.7 per cent of the rental income of property. As a result of these conditions tax delinquencies have risen sharply since 1920, and an accompanying breakdown in the machinery of enforced collections and tax sales is said to have occurred.

The flaws in taxing practices cited by the Committee include the imposition of an unfair share of the total tax burden on real estate, while intangible property, such as stocks and bonds, is often escaped; an unfair bias of assessment against the small-home owner; inequality of assessment; and double or even multiple taxation of real estate through the imposition of mortgage taxes and special assessments in addition to an excessive property tax.

All these flaws are discussed in detail by the Committee and remedied for them proposed. But the Committee insists that no shifting of taxes that is not accompanied by general reduction in public expenditures will solve the fundamental difficulty. An appendix to the report cites the appalling waste of public funds resulting from many layers of government—counties, townships, municipalities, school districts, road districts, etc.—superimposed one upon the other. For example, in the city of Chicago there are 415 separate taxing units, a luxury that costs that city an estimated $136,000,000 a year. To a lesser degree this waste is common to all sections of the United States.

In addition to a thorough survey of corrective steps to reduce the cost of government, the report discusses substitute taxes, the effect of a property tax offset under an income tax, and tax exemptions.

The first volume of the President's Conference reports entitled "Planning for Residential Districts" appeared in March. Nine more volumes, making a total of eleven, will be needed to include all the reports of the thirty-one committees that collected data on every phase of housing for the President's Conference. They will appear in the course of the next few months. The volume can be purchased for $1.15 each postpaid, from Dr. John M. Gries, Executive Secretary, President's Conference on Home Building and Home Ownership, Department of Commerce Building, Washington, D. C.

The Winchester Rotary Club met at noon Thursday in the Calumet Club. Luncheon was served at noon, followed by a business meeting. Pres. Dr. J. Churchill Hinds presided. More than 35 members attended.

MEDFORD THEATRE
"Dancers in the Dark" which comes to the Medford Theatre for four days starting Sunday, is a swift moving entertaining story of a colorful dance hall "hostess" who is whirled into a series of dramatic events that lead to a high-voltage climax.

Miriam Hopkins as the "hostess" is assisted by Jack Oakie, William Collier Jr., and Eugene Pallette.

"Sky Devils," the companion picture of the bill is an original story written purely for entertainment value with Spencer Tracy and William Boyd, in the leading roles.

In "Sky Devils" we have a comedy of the clouds with a war as the background, but with the horrors of the conflict left out, and its funny side brought to the fore. It is a lightning fast picture based on the adventure of three Americans in the war, with thrills aplenty and numerous air battles, the laughs prevailing and the darker side subdued.

SPORT REALM

Four more meets remain on Coach Pidgeon's Medford High track schedule. The team will compete in the Harvard Inter-scholastics at the Harvard Stadium on Saturday, May 14. On Friday, May 27, the team will journey to the Pearl street Stadium to run Malden High. Thursday, June 2, the Medford High tracksters will run against the Lawrence High team at Lawrence in a twilight meet starting at 5.30 p. m. Saturday, June 4, comes the State Relay Carnival conducted by Fitchburg High School.

The Blue and White has better than an even chance to win the Fitchburg Relay Carnival this year. Coach Pidgeon had an excellent opportunity to look over his relay prospects under fire at the Penn. games. Incidentally, Medford has two legs on the trophy given to the High School winning the shuffle relay three times. With half a break the Medford team should retire the trophy from competition. But this meet has proved to be a jinx for Medford track representatives more than once. Injuries have wrecked Medford's chances in past years and other times the meet being so late in the season the boys have gone stale. This year matters should be different.

Golf Gleamings

For some reason or other Medford golfers seem to prefer to remain in the background. We know there are many in the city keenly interested in the sport and this column is very interested in those active in the sport of "Divot Disturbers" and wish to see that the particular pastime is given proper representation in the news columns. Last year it was discovered that Lon Thomas was about as good as they come in this section, but he has been South for the greater part of the winter and is not expected home for a few weeks. There are others, too, who should keep us informed.

City League Sidelights

This week in the City League games the teams have had to rush to get in five or perhaps six innings. Within a week or so the evenings will become longer and the games should go seven or perhaps eight innings. The first week found the crowds rather light at the League games but with the coming of the longer evenings and keener interest in the games the parks should be literally thronged. The competition is of the keenest, the spirit of sportsmanship is the finest and the boys and clubs are well worthy of the support and interest of all baseball lovers throughout the city.

Nortons And Tigers Game Called Off

The Norton Club and the Tigers game went only four innings last night at Morrison Park. Umpire Dick Phelan called the game no contest because of darkness.

At the time the game was called the Nortons were leading 8 to 6, after scoring four runs in the last inning of the contest. Whether or not this game will be replayed is a matter not yet decided. The League officials may rule the game out entirely or rule it to be replayed.

"Good Will" Party Will Leave For Abroad In July

Three hundred boys and group leaders from twenty states and 79 cities will sail in July to spend forty-five days in Europe as members of the largest "good will" party to visit abroad in the history of boys' tours. Russell B. Donovan of this city will be among them. Twenty-four groups numbering from fifteen to twenty-five each, will follow five itineraries. The average cost, per boy, for the entire trip will be $275.

Entertainment in each country by citizens' committees, made possible by special arrangement with the National Councils of the YMCA in European countries, will be a unique feature of the tour this summer. Each group of boys upon arriving in a country, will be met by officials and citizens—members of the YMCA in that country—who will escort and entertain them until they cross the border to the next country.

The boys will be entertained by officials in private homes, live as the people live, observe customs of the country, be taken on bicycle hikes, camping trips and mountain climbs, will enjoy boating and swimming, and visit points of interest in the country of their hosts.

The tours, conducted by the International Committee of the YMCA and known as "World Y Tours" have been carried out for the past eight years on a small scale under similar arrangements. In 1931 more than 120 European boys visited this country and were the guests of American YMCA members. The good will tour created during their visit is largely responsible for offers of hospitality from European countries which have resulted in plans being carried out on such a large scale this summer.

Nearest The Heart

by Elise Joy

(Miss Joy will answer all communications sent to her care of this paper. For personal service kindly enclose self-addressed envelope).

By Elise Joy

When the musician fails to acknowledge his audience or
When the writer destroys his copy or
When the lecturer screams at his audience or
When the doctor misses up on a diagnosis—blame it to that emotional state we call "the mood" but when a plumber's helper forgets his tools,—blame it to that contagious state we call "the Mode."

Dear Miss Joy:

I'm in a very funny situation. The girl whom I am engaged to is a very sweet girl but she has the funniest disposition I have ever encountered. She is very nice at times and when I think I know her she is sure to do something that upsets my program. I'm at a loss to know how to react.

She tells me she is very moody. Perhaps she is but I'm inclined to think she is plain cussed at times. I have invited her to the movies time and time again but when I go to call for her, she will be just going out the door with another man. She tells me then she isn't in the mood for me but will be some other night.

I think I'm entitled to some consideration as her fiancé but apparently she can't see things this way.

We have been planning to be married this month, but when we start to decide on the date, she will end up the discussion with the words, "Well, if I feel like getting married on that date we will. If not, we will simply have to wait until I'm in the mood for it." Now what do you make of that?

—Paul

They aren't this way. They think we will be very happy.

So now, Miss Joy, won't you tell me what to do?

—Junior, a Real Lover

A religious difference between two people contemplating marriage is always a serious bone of contention, but like all other problems, the right and wrong of it, depends entirely upon the individuals concerned. The solution of the problem, whether it is to be a happy one or a disagreeable one, rests absolutely upon the shoulders of both parties.

Tolerance is the keynote to a successful mixed marriage and it must be shared by both parties concerned.

If you are endowed and you feel that your sweetheart will work with you in this plan then the outcome is up to both of you. Of course, Junior, you realize how young both of you are, to be considering marriage. I'm sure you have given thought to the responsibilities such a union incurs. You sound as though you blamed business depression for halting your marriage. On the contrary, you should bless the era of upsets because it is giving you ample time to know your own mind and also allowing your fiancée the opportunity of growing up into womanhood as she should, single and unencumbered with marital duties and worries.

Why not wait another year or two and perhaps then you will be able to win your family over into wishing you happiness in your new life.

Tigers Lost To Independents By One Run Only

In a fast seven inning game the Medford Tigers were beaten by the Independents at Barry Playground, Thursday night, by the score of 2 to 1.

The game was close from the start although the Independents started off in real League fashion by scoring two runs in the first inning. The Tigers scored their lone run in the seventh.

This was the originally planned game to be played by these two teams last Sunday but because all games were rained out it necessarily was postponed.

Requiescat in pace.

My sincere sympathy is extended to his bereaved family.

Alderman Robert P. Campbell.

Chicagoan Named As Logical Head Of Stage Alliance

Nothing but a near miracle can prevent George E. Browne, of Chicago, from becoming the head of the IA when the International union convenes at Columbus in June.

That is the opinion of leading stage representatives throughout the country.

Associated with Stage work since he was a boy, George E. Browne has won international recognition through his ability to handle labor disputes successfully.

Recently, Browne was elected to his seventh two-year term as business manager of the Chicago Theatrical Protective Union, Local No. 2, affiliated with the International.

For nine years, he has been vice-president of the International.

Homes of Beauty & Comfort

HERE'S A BEAUTIFUL HOME PARTICULARLY ADAPTED TO HILLSIDE OR ROLLING LOT

More than one person has longed for a home on a hillside or on a rolling lot. There is something alluring about a home so situated. It carries with it an air of freedom and informality.

For a rolling lot the Radcliffe is ideal. Its rambling appearance with sharply pitched roof and sweeping lines makes it appear to cling to the ground, yet its quaintly designed chimney and half-timbers lead the eye upward and give it an atmosphere of spaciousness and freedom.

The exterior lines of the Radcliffe are English. The wooden gable half-timbers above the bay of front windows, the pitch of the roof and the chimney pots all speak of this treatment. The walls are stucco set off by blocks of native stone. The chimney and the door jambs are finished with brick, sparingly used, yet effectively carrying out the informal atmosphere that characterizes the exterior lines of the residence.

Moderate in Cost

At first glance, this unusual residence of six rooms with bath and breakfast nook appears to be expensive, yet an investigation into the building costs reveals that its cost is not excessive but in keeping with the financial status of the average business man.

The specifications of the Radcliffe were submitted to four contractors in different parts of the United States. The average cost of the dwelling was slightly over $6,000, varying according to the locality. This figure may be accepted as a fair statement of costs.

An informal flagstone walk borders the concrete driveway leading past the house to the garage behind. At an appropriate distance from the house this flagstone walk swings in a graceful curve to the brick stoop that forms a part of the entrance. The entranceway proper is an arch of native stone set in the stucco siding. The broad heavy oak door of the house is flanked at the jambs and arched overhead by brick. Within the front door is the hall.

Fireplace Adds Charm

To the right of the front hall is the living room, a spacious, well-lighted room with a handsome brick fireplace that adds charm to the interior. A bay containing four casement windows occupies the front wall of the room while at the side is a double hung window and a porch door with 15 lights.

A comely plaster arch separates the living room from the dining room immediately at the rear. The dining room is well lighted by five windows.

On one side of the passage leading between the dining room and the kitchen is a built-in cupboard for table linens; opposite is a breakfast nook with built-in seats. The table is movable, however, which is an advantage for cleaning.

Built-in Features

The kitchen of the Radcliffe is laid out to save the housewife many steps. Across the rear elevation is a sink with porcelain drop-board. It is flanked on the right by a six-foot work table and on the left by a pantry space, under which is located a refrigerator with outside ice. Opposite is the gas stove. One of the built-in features of this room is the ironing board which, when not in use, is folded and hidden in a recess in the wall.

A door leads from the kitchen to the front hall. Off this hall is a large closet to the basement while at the front a staircase with a broad landing serves the floor above, with three bedrooms and bath.

The layout of the rooms on the second floor is most advantageous. The master's bedroom is especially interesting with its two closets and fireplace.

Cross Ventilation

Each of the large sleeping rooms has cross ventilation, essential in many parts of the country where during hot summer nights, cooling breezes are welcome. All closets are lighted by electricity.

A linen closet and storeroom off the hall are added conveniences, for there can be kept the linens for the three bedrooms and other accessories of the household.

The bathroom is conveniently located for each of the three bedrooms. The tub is built-in. A linen closet to the laundry and a case for towels are features of this room.

The basement arrangement should not be overlooked for here is located the heating plant and the laundry, two important factors in every household. The fuel bin is in one corner conveniently located to the heating plant.

Steel basement windows light the laundry which is located to the rear. Here are hot and cold water and two tubs. This section of the basement is large enough to accommodate ample clothes lines if the weather is not suitable for hanging the clothes out of doors. A fruit room is located near the stairway.

The basement floor is concrete, a drain being located near the laundry to carry off surplus water.

Transplanted Shrubs Need Special Care

When shrubs are transplanted the effect upon them may be compared to an operation performed on a human being. A shock is administered to the plant; and it needs special care during the period of recovery and adjustment.

If this care is denied it, even though the plant lives, it may never recover its full vigor. But if the shrub is helped through the critical first year, until its roots have become well established in the soil and growth has become normal, then the shock of the transplanting operation will be forgotten.

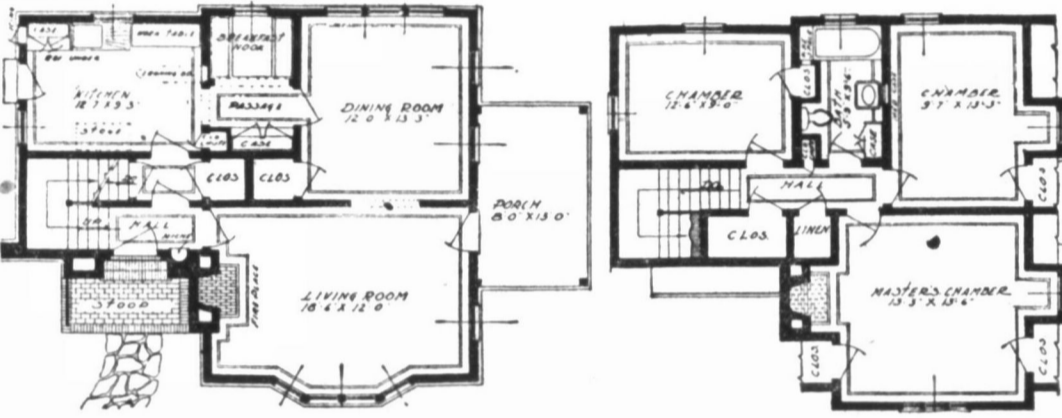

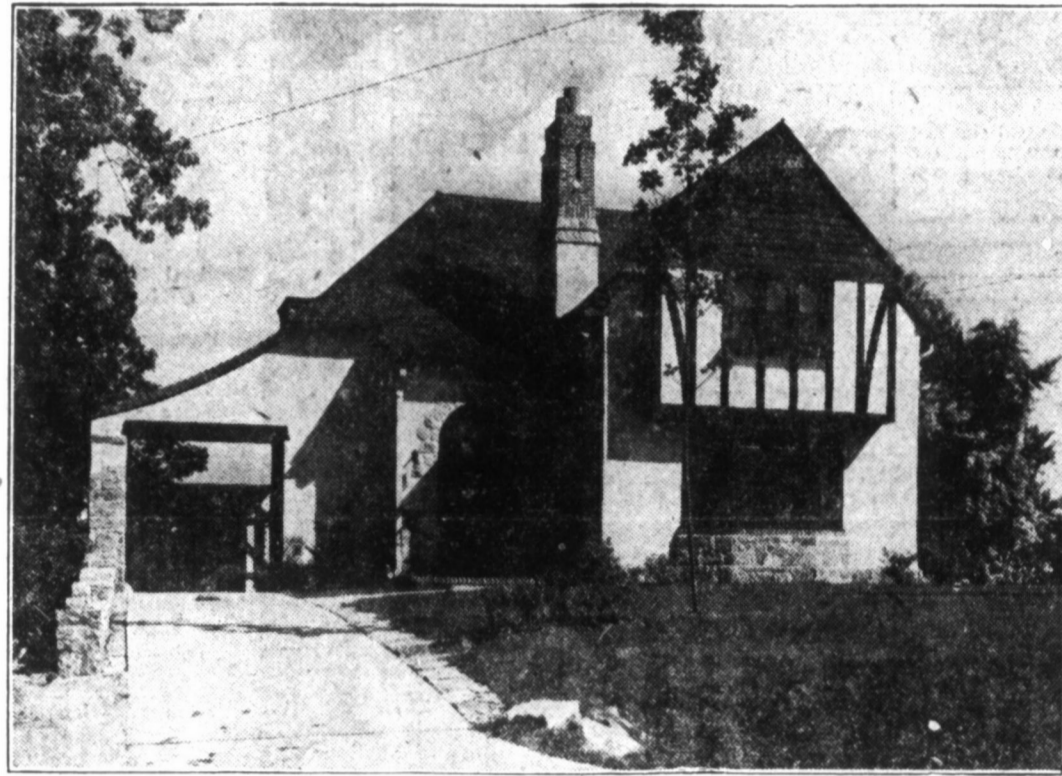

Because of the sacrifice of roots which always takes place when shrubs are moved, the plant is obliged to find its food and water in a relatively small area of soil; and this soil should be enriched and prevented from drying out too much. When a hole has been dug large enough to contain the roots without crowding, mix a quarter pint of plant food, mixing well. When the soil is filled in it should be tamped thoroughly, and all air spaces among the roots should be filled. The roots must come in direct contact with the soil or they cannot absorb food.

During the first year after transplanting, special care must be taken to see that the soil does not dry out. A dry spell which would not affect well established shrubs may be felt seriously by transplanted shrubs whose roots are confined to a relatively small and shallow feeding. A well-fed shrub quickly corrects this condition by making new roots.

Get in a crop of early peas whenever the ground can be worked.

Start tuberous begonias in pots in a warm window.

ATTRACTIVE SIX-ROOM DWELLING

Here is the Radcliffe, beautiful six-room English dwelling. Note its handsome appearance with its air of spaciousness and freedom, make it ideally suited for location on the hillside or rolling lot. A breakfast nook is one of its many features. The plans shown above indicate the convenience of its floor layout and the general arrangement of the interior. This type of home may be built for $6,000 or more, depending upon the location and finish.

Garden Hints

Most southern gardeners are now ready to transplant eggplants, tomatoes, and peppers. Northern gardeners must transplant them inside.

Scatter commercial fertilizer about the perennials for the spring rains to take it down to the roots.

Start cucumber seeds in pots for early slicing cukes. You can do the same with summer squash of the bush type.

Sow seed of new varieties of tomatoes in pots or boxes.

Put in seed of all hardy annuals in the garden. Weather won't bother this type of plant.

Don't be fooled by a few warm days into getting tender plants unnecessarily exposed.

Roll the lawn as soon as it shows green.

Give the grass a dressing of good commercial fertilizer.

Watch the currant bushes and spray frequently for plant lice. Currant bushes are great nurses for this pest.

Start after the weeds early this year. Don't let them get the jump on you.

Give perennial seed an early start this year. The earlier they start growing the better they will be next year.

Start seed for succession crops of cabbage, cauliflower, turnips, carrots, and beets.

Transplant seedlings that are getting too crowded into more commodious quarters.

The new paper clothes are fine protection for tender plants if a few cool days happen along.

Get in a sack of peat moss for mulch during hot weather. It's good winter or summer.

Don't delay ordering new dahlias and gladioli you want. The supply of novelties sometimes runs short.

Mulch ought to be pretty well off the garden. Save it for the compost heap.

A California Bungalow That Features Privacy

THE CORONADO—DESIGN NO. 206

TYPICALLY Californian this bungalow puts a premium on privacy. In every feature it is planned to that end. Looking at this perspective no one would suspect for a moment that the kitchen was tucked away in that attractive right hand corner at the front. But there was method in this. The bedrooms are given complete privacy, relieved of street noise.

Living and dining rooms are practically one continuous room. From either French doors open upon a porch facing the patio. Insuring privacy in the patio is an extension of the house wall to the depth of the bedrooms on the left.

For cool evenings is a delightful little nook with open fire place off the living room. Built in seats increase its comfort and an added touch of friendliness comes from a floor of vari-colored brick, laid roughly. It was a happy thought.

The two bedrooms in the rear are reached through a miniature hallway from the living room. Between them is the bath. Both are well lighted and open upon the patio.

Built of skintled brickwork and roofed with tile of a harmonious color this bungalow, when adequately dressed with shrubbery, presents an appearance and extends an appeal that is irresistible.

Distinctly a bungalow for a warm region it could be fitted with heating system and basement to meet the climatic conditions of any section. As shown it has neither. It is distinctly of that peculiar type, one hundred thousand strong, which has made California peculiarly its home and the bungalow the reigning favorite.

The Common Brick Manufacturers' Association, Cleveland, Ohio, can furnish complete drawings for this design. Letter on brick construction sent upon request.

Weekly Pay Plan To Assist Teachers Is Put Into Operation

Arrangements have been made whereby teachers who so desire may receive their pay at the end of the week.

The plan to pay teachers twice each month is to be continued, a majority of the teachers favoring that plan.

When occasions arise where a teacher may need his pay before the regular pay day, he may receive it at the close of any week by securing an order at the school department office and presenting this order to the city treasurer.

The plan was worked out by City Treasurer Ward, Dr. Kadesch and City Auditor Lucey.

Mrs. Ralph LaRose was in charge of the bridge at which there was a prize for each table.

Another Safety Drive To Be Launched In June

The present drive against motorists operating without green stickers to indicate proper inspection of their automobiles will hardly be out of the way before fully 7000 police and highway inspection officers will launch another intensive drive against automobile violators.

The Governor's committee on street and highway safety announced that June 1 a second State-wide six months' police campaign against eight principal causes of motor vehicle accidents, similar to that conducted last year, will be started.

In session at the Hotel Beaconsfield, Brookline, the Massachusetts Chiefs of Police Association voted unanimous approval of the 1932 campaign. Their decision was swayed, it was stated, by the success of last year's campaign, coupled with the fact that fatalities for the present year have shown an increase of 5 per cent during the first four months over the same period a year ago.

The situation is similar to that which faced the State last year when the first six months' anti-accident campaign was started. Up to June 1 last year there had been an increase of 19 fatalities over the corresponding period in the previous year. The drive caused a reduction of 21 deaths from the previous year for the last half of the year.

Ford Plant Large Force Now At Work

Assembly of both four and eight-cylinder passenger cars was in progress yesterday at the Somerville plant of the Ford Motor Company. These cars are destined for dealers in the New England territory and will constitute the beginning of deliveries to owners of cars assembled locally. Heretofore the cars that dealers have received have been assembled elsewhere, the local factory being on truck assembly the past few weeks.

The plant on Mystic Avenue is being operated on a six-day week basis, something quite new for Ford, and it is running ten hours a day, with double shifts in some departments. The schedule calls for an increase in output all through this month and a maintained high production rate in June and July. There is a large bank of orders on hand to be taken care of.

Until the last few days the dealers have had only display cars. Those in Metropolitan Boston have now been provided with demonstration cars and opportunity will be given prospective buyers to ride and drive the cars.

The increased employment at the Somerville plant is affecting only former Ford workers, as no new help is being taken on.

—Dr. William Lanigan, 187 Main street, Medford, and C. A. O'Neil of Knollwood road, Medford, have returned from their annual fishing trip at Sebago Lake, Maine.

THIS IS A YEAR FOR PLANNING -NOT THEORIZING

Colby M. Chester, Jr., President, General Foods Corporation:

"The food industry is not doing much theorizing about the future; it is hard at work planning and mapping its course for the year."

Here are words from the head of a great business organization that can be taken to heart by other concerns, large or small.

In following the course mentioned by Mr. Chester, the first consideration is your financial standing.

By doing your banking business with a reputable institution, you strengthen your own financial reputation.

Many business men base their financial standing upon their connection with the Malden Trust Company.
